FIRE ON ROYAL STREET

Pyromaniac of First Ward Believed to be Responsible for Blaze Last Night

Shortly after nine o'clock last night an unoccupied frame house on Royal street, near Wilkes, was found to be burning. The fire department made a record run, and what would soon have proven a serious conflagration was soon subdued. In fact the blaze went down almost as soon as it had shot up, the result of quick work of the firemen.

The house had been occupied by colored people up to yesterday, and when an investigation had been made it was apparent that the building had been set on fire, and that it had been kindled under a stairway. The house was badly damaged.

There have been a number of fires on this square during past years. Back in the early fifties a grocery store on the opposite corner now the site of a brick building erected by St. Mary's Church as a colored school and now used by the city school board for colored children, was obliterated by fire. This store was conducted by the late Captain Joseph Moore. On Christmas Day, 1863, a frame feed depot next to the scene of last night's fire, which was used by the U. S. government, caught fire. The building was filled with hay, and it was totally destroyed with its contents. Several houses on the north, owned by the late John Walsh, were destroyed or badly damaged at that time.

Other fires have followed at times on the same square and on the same side of the street. A short time ago a conflagration occurred at the scene of last night's fire.

The property belongs to the estate of Mr. Walsh.

The reappearance of the firebug, after having refrained from overt acts for some time, was the general theme of conversation in the neighborhood today.

Some Fine Pictures

Those who enjoy moving pictures should not fail to see those now being shown at the Richmond in this city. "The Chattel," a five-reel production in which E. H. Sothern appears as the leading star, was given there last night. It is a masterpiece, and with the fine orchestra in attendance, furnished an entertainment that is not surpassed in the larger cities. In fact, in New York, the admission to the same character of show is one dollar, while here it is but fifteen cents. The management of the Richmond is to be congratulated upon the excellence of the exhibitions now being given there and certainly merit the encouragement and patronage of theater-going public in his efforts to provide pictures of the higher class, especially as they are much more expensive to produce than the other king. W. H. Thompson in "Civilization's Child", is another excellent one which may be seen there tonight.

WILL PAY THE FINE.

Harry Fleischmann, proprietor of the Feischmann Hotel, was fined fifty dollars in the Police Court last June for keeping his saloon open on election day and supplying females with liquor, and who took an appeal to the Corporation Court, will pay the fine and the costs of the appeal. This he indicated to that tribunal yesterday.

Murry Linker, aged fifty years, a special traffic officer on duty during the fair in Salisbury, N. C., this week was killed last night by being struck by an automobile owned and driven by Ollie Tolbert, a Southern Railway conductor, of Spencer, who is in jail to await a hearing. Linker was on duty between Salisbury and the fair grounds. It is charged that Tolbert was driving at high speed. Linker was rushed to a hospital, but died before reaching there. He is survived by a wife, three daughters and three sons.

People who have occasion to visit the postoffice, especially women, are apprehensive of being injured by thoughtless children who amuse themselves by rapidly whirling the revolving doors. These pranks are generally committed by children on their way to school, who make their appearance between 8:30 and 9 o'clock, and reappear shortly after 3 p. m. while on their way home from school. The juveniles are liable to be injured by this diversion. A woman had one of her arms broken sometime ago by having it caught in one of these doors.

All reside in Augusta. No passengers were hurt.

Farmer Kills Wife

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 28—Ed. Mangum, a well-known farmer in the Falls of The Neuse section, of Wake County, felled his wife early yesterday with a cudgel and then fired a bullet through her brain, in the presence of three small stepchildren.

Mangum was confined in the criminal insane department of the State prison for some time, about a year ago, and later was released as normal. Subsequently, he married the woman, whose life he took yesterday. It was some time after the murder before neighbors found the little children and the lifeless body of the mother in the Mangum home. Shavings were piled about the body as though the murdered had thought of burning it.

Mangum was found at the home of his father, where he was held until officers arrived from Raleigh.

VIRGINIA NEWS

Paragraphs Picked Up Here and There Throughout the State.

Melvin Terrel, colored, better known as "Slim," who was shot through the neck in lower Church street, Norfolk, early Sunday morning, is dead. Terrel's windpipe was severed by a bullet, Elija Holmes, alias George Du Little, colored, is held on a charge of murder.

J. B. Clinedinst, one of the agents of the State Bureau of Labor, who is in Lynchburg, is strongly of the opinion that E. Lee Trinkle, Democratic nominee for Congress from the Ninth District, has an excellent chance to defeat Congressman Slemp. Mr. Clinedinst declared his work had taken him for several weeks into various sections of the Ninth District, and he was surprised to find the sentiment so strongly for Trinkle. He said many farmers in the district who are Republicans give the Democratic administration credit for present prosperity in the district. Mr. Clinedinst said the speeches of Governor Stuart in the district made a deep impression on farmers. He is confident that the rural districts will show a surprise, and if the Ninth does not give a Democratic majority he says he will be disappointed.

On returning to their home at Hume, 25 miles west of Warrenton Thursday evening, S. S. Melton, merchant, of Hume, accompanied by W. L. and R. H. Payne, two friends met with a serious accident, caused by Melton's automobile turning turtle at a culvert, throwing the two Paynes clear of the car. They were badly bruised and cut. Melton was caught under the car, the steering wheel pinning him down, and suffered a bad fracture of the left leg between the ankle and knee.

Mrs. Reuben Bruce, 30 years old, dropped dead Thursday morning at breakfast at her home, near Lynnwood, Rockingham county. She attended a dance the preceding night and probably overexerted herself. Surviving her are her husband and four children.

Presbyterian Synod of Virginia Adjourns in Lexington to Convene Here in October, 1917.

The Synod met in the First Presbyterian Church on south Fairfax street this city, in the fall of 1877.

The Synod had been in session in Lexington this week. The body adjourned yesterday.

The following committees made reports, Bible cause, publication, ministerial relief, systematic beneficence, woman's auxiliary and orphans' home. In the report on education and ministerial relief, it was shown that there are 523 candidates for the ministry under the care of the synod The orphans' home report showed 118 children as beneficiaries of the home in Lynchburg. The amount contributed to foreign missions was $23,150.

Synodical communion service was celebrated yesterday afternoon with devotional exercises by the Rev. Dr. Theron H. Rice, a former pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church in Alexandria. Memorial services to ministers who died last year also was held.

Dr. J. Y. Fair, of Richmond, delivered the closing sermon last night.

The Rev. Dr. John Lee Allison has returned from Lexington, Virginia, where he attended the sessions of the Synod of Virginia, the elder, Mr. Alfred G. Uhler also attended.

The Synod accepted the invitation to hold its sessions in Alexandria next October, at which time the Second Presbyterian Church of this city will observe its one hundredth anniversary with appropriate exercises.

ST. MARY'S ACADEMY

Names of Honor Students in the Various Departments

The first monthly reports for the current scholastic year at St. Mary's Academy were distributed to the grammar grades, commercial and Academic departments yesterday, at 11 o'clock. Rev. Louis Smet presided.

Preceding the distribution of reports a short but delightful program was rendered in the Assembly Hall. The monthly program is in charge of the various Academic classes. This month it fell to the lot of the fourth Academics—the graduating class—and they acquitted themselves most creditably. Their papers, consisting of original verse, serious and gay, well written prose, teeming with good thoughts, current topics and clever local hits were thoroughly interesting and spoke well for the English class work of the past weeks. Miss Florence Evans, as reader, gave tangible proof of the the benefits derived from a special course in expression. Miss Emma Hubbard gave, as only Miss Hubbard could give it, a humorous selection entitled "A Lecture on Woman's Rights."

At the close of the program Rev. Smet thanked the young ladies for the pleasure their program afforded him and commenting on the reports he congratulated those who had done well and urged on those who had not done so well this month to endeavor to do better next month.

There is no royal road to learning. Here, more than elsewhere, it would seem "Success crowns effort," not spasmodic, fitful effort, but the constant, persistent effort of the earnest student.

Highest class averages for the month were: fourth academic, Miss Winifred Bayne 88 per cent; Third academic, Miss Winifred Williams 89 per cent; Second academic, Miss Ella Teague, 93 per cent; First academic, Miss Emma Hubbard 93 per cent; second year commercial, Miss Mary Haynes 91 1-2 per cent; One year commercial, Miss Lucile Dienelt 98 per cent; Eighth grade, Miss Rosella Burke 99 per cent. Seventh grade, Miss Katherine Grace 97 per cent; Sixth grade, Miss Aline Dyson 99 1-2 per cent; Fifth grade Miss Eloise Monroe 92 per cent; Fourth grade, Miss Dorothy Harrington 94 per cent; Third grade, Little Misses M. Aitcheson and Anna Mess 94 per cent; Second grade Lynward Schruggs 98 per cent.

In the expression class, eighth degree, the Olive Ribbon was won by Miss Emma Hubbard.

MISCHIEVOUS YOUTHS

Youngsters Gather at High School Last Night—One Said to Have Carried a Bottle of Whiskey

Early last night a telephone message was sent to the station house requesting that an officer be sent to the new high school building for the purpose of scattering a bunch of youngsters who had gathered on the steps leading into the building and who were annoying in one way or another the young women who were attending the masquerade party given in the building. Officer William Campbell was soon on the spot but the youths ran before he could get near enough to seize one of them. He marked one, however, and later found him upon the street and took him in charge. The accused was brought before the Police Court this morning. Apparently about eighteen years of age, he presented a true picture of other youths in this city who roam the streets at night. He was unkempt in appearance, in need of a haircut and the use of a comb. He remained quiet while the officer made his statement, which was to the effect that the prisoner was one of a gang who caused much annoyance to quiet people in the northwestern section of the city after dark, generally at the intersection of Cameron and Payne streets, where the ticket office of the electric railway is located. Mr. Campbell stated that the youngsters can run like deer, and always take to their heels at the approach of an officer.

The youth in his statement acknowledged that he was in front of the high school building, but he did not seem to think he was guilty of any offense. He said one boy in the gang last night had a bottle of whisky, and this shows why we have written a longer article upon the incident than would have been necessary had it simply been a case of disorderly conduct. He was fined $2.50. The streets are a dangerous night school for youngsters, and the parents of some boys may not know that they are consorting with companions who carry bottles of whisky.

Gave Supper Last Evening.

A supper was given by L. A. Davis last night at the Elks' Home in honor of Mr. Benton Ray, of Montgomery county, Maryland, J. W. Wall and R. A. Liezer, of Silver Spring, Md. The supper was in charge of caterer Geo. Bontz, and was enjoyed by all present. Alderman Brill presided as toastmaster. Among those present were Mayor Fisher, Alderman G. H. Robinson, Councilman J. W. Bales and J. Kaufmann, A. J. Pohl, F. P. Russell, J. U. Schwargmann, Wm. Engal, L. Wolford, J. D. Davis, C. A. Caton, B. W. Bentley John, Davis, E. G. Schwarzmann, H. Hockmann, A. B. Rowzee, Jas. Callan, H. Simpson, C. F. Johnson, Jonah Bernheimer, J. D. Normoyle and R. Wenzel.

HALLOWE'EN PRANKS

The Gazette a few days ago suggested the authorities to take precautions to prevent disorder next Tuesday night, Hallowe'en. We have no objection to young and old amusing themselves to their hearts' content provided they do so at their own expense and not by annoying others or playing practical jokes which cost their victims money in the way of repairs to property, etc.

Hallowe'en night is a gala occasion, and young and old, wearing masks and attired in grotesque costumes may be expected on the street, but there is no reason why such performances cannot be carried on in good humor.

The police authorities of Washington have placed a ban upon everything calculated to annoy quiet people on the occasion. They are determined to make a safe and sane night of Hallowe'en.

The removal of signs and front gates, the use of tick-tacks and putty blowers, and similar pranks will be prohibited as will also flour-throwing.

The spirit of rowdyism which prevailed among the boys and young men of the capital city on Hallowe'en [illegible] years ago has gradually died [illegible]

[illegible] boys and young folks of [illegible]ington nowadays don't indulge [illegible]wdyish pranks of years ago. [illegible] is a tendency now to celebrate [illegible]ight at masquerades or other [illegible] gatherings in an orderly manner.

REPUBLICANS ANXIOUS

Notwithstanding the braggadocia of the adherents of candidate Hughes, there are many indications to show that they are by no means certain of the election of the former justice. Betting on the candidates was again on even money in New York yesterday. The republicans are anxious for Ohio at present.

Perhaps the best evidence of the Wilson strength in Ohio is to be found in the fright which has seized the Republican leaders in the state. The managers of the Hughes campaign are in a condition of near-panic. They are appealing frantically to the National Committee for money, for speakers and for anything else that might possibly save the situation.

Myron T. Herrick, late Ambassador to Paris and Republican nominee for the United States Senate, went to New York last week to get money. He is reported to have told the committee that $500,000 was necessary to deliver the State to Hughes.

AN OFT REPEATED QUESTION

Since the close of the recent evangelical campaign in Alexandria many whose eyes have been opened to the joys of the spiritual life are asking questions concerning the meaning of this and that statement of the Bible. A few are anxious concerning some passages, and it doubtless will be the pleasant duty of those who have made the Bible a study to assist any who are entering into the spirit of the new life.

Probably the query most often propounded is this: "What is the sin against the Holy Ghost?" and what does Paul mean when he tells Timothy of people whose consciences are seared over with a hot iron?

About a month ago a man in the northern section of the country brooded over these passages until he finally put an end to his life. The charred remains of Frank Peschi were found near Upper Marlboro, Md., this week. It is now known that he was not murdered and his body burned, as had been at first supposed, but that he offered himself as a [illegible] sacrifice to [illegible] believing he had committed the unpardonable [illegible]

[illegible] these subjects are Christians, but of a class who see through a glass darkly; they ask themselves the question, "Have I committed the unpardonable sin?"

It may be safe to say that those who ask this question or manifest any uneasiness concerning it, are not guilty of this serious offence. The fact that they ask the question in prima facie evidence that they are innocent.

A passage in the Pilgrim Progress, where the Interpreter shows Christian a man in an iron cage for whom there is no hope of salvation, he having resisted the Spirit all his life, adds greatly to the distress of many well-meaning disciples. But listen. The man is represented as realizing his condition, which shows his conscience was not seared over with a hot iron. Every reader does not agree with Bunyan in this part of his allegory.

However, let us examine this matter and see if what we believe to be a greatly misunderstood subject cannot be set at rest.

After Christ had ordained the twelve Apostles and sent them forth to preach and to perform miracles by casting out demons, we read in the book of Mark chapter iii., verses 21 to 30 as follows:

And when his friends heard of it, they went out to lay hold on him: for they said He is beside himself. And the scribes which came down from Jerusalem said He hath Beelzebub, and by the prince of devils casteth he out devils. And he called them unto him; and said unto them in parables, How can Satan cast out Satan? And if a kingdom be divided against itself; that kingdom cannot stand. And if a house be divided against itself; that house cannot stand. And if Satan rise up against himself, and be divided he cannot stand; but hath an end. No man can enter into a strong man's house, and spoil his goods; except he will first bind the strong man; and then he will spoil his house. Verily I say unto you: All sins shall be forgiven unto the sons of men, and blasphemies wherewith soever they shall blaspheme: But he that shall blaspheme against the Holy Ghost hath never forgiveness, but is in danger of eternal damnation: because they said; He hath an unclean spirit.

Now observe. The words "because they said he hath a devil" or demon, shows that this awful condemnation was intended for those who stood by and witnessed the miracle of casting out the unclean spirits, but who were ready to ascribe the power to the devil instead of Christ, and not for those in future ages who are anxious concerning their souls.

Hence disciples who may be uneasy over this matter can rest assured that these words were not intended for them, as they never had the audacity to utter such blasphemy had they the opportunity.

The Son of Man is not on the earth at present performing miracles, and if the present generation were disposed to attribute his powers to his satanic majesty they have no opportunity to do so.

The people against whom he spoke went away unconcerned and without realizing the enormity of their insult to high heaven.

NEWS OF THE DAY

A dispatch from Berlin says no less than eleven guard ships and two or three torpedoboat destroyers or torpedo boats were either sunk or destroyed in the English Channel last night by a squadron of German torpedo boats operating between Folkestone and Boulogue. The official statement adds that the German flotilla returned safely to its base without suffering any loss.

Six persons three women, a man, a six-year-old girl and a baby—were killed yesterday when an interurban car on the Northern Indiana Railroad struck an automobile at a grade crossing six miles north of South Bend, Ind.

Thomas Edgar Stripling, the story of whose life fits in with the tale of Jean Valjean, in Victor Hugo's "Less Miserables," is today employed as house detective in the Hotel Richmond. Stripling is here with his wife and family. It will be remembered that he served a term in the Georgia penitentiary for killing a man, it is alleged, in defense of his home. For years he was a refugee and for a time he served as chief of police of Danville, under the name of R. E. Morris.

VIRGINIA NEWS

All Around the Old Dominion State.

News of a mystery of the deep was brought to Norfolk Thursday by Capt. Claude, of the Dutch steamer La Campine, who reported that his vessel passed the wreck of a schooner or sailing vessel 9 miles south by east ô fthe Chesapeake Bay entrance buoy. Only one mast was standing. Just what vessel it is or what human toll, if any, the wrecked vessel took with her may never be known.

The German undersea merchantman Deutschland, according to reports in circulation in Norfolk and Baltimore is due at the Virginia capes in the next few hours, en route to Baltimore. It is declared she sailed from Bremen two weeks ago and successfully eluded all British patrol boats. Last night there was a report afloat that the Deutschland passed in the capes shortly after nightfall, and proceeded up the bay.

H. S. Bush, a citizen of Virginia, but temporarily a resident of Arkansas for business reasons, yesterday cast his vote for presidential electors in Little Rock, under the provisions of Virginia's absentee voter law. He marked the ballot which he had received from Virginia officials in the presence of Postmaster William E. Floyd, at the local Federal building. Mr. Floyd made affidavit to that effect, and last night the ballot, in registered letter, was on it way to Pulaski.

Jesse Kiser, 30 years old, and married, is in the Harrisonburg jail on a warrant sworn out by Howard Heatwole, About a week ago Heatwole's sister, Miss Catherine Heatwole, 16 years old, left home in company with Kiser. They were located by Chief of Police Lipscomb, of Staunton, on a farm in Augusta county. The girl has been sent to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Heatwole, near Hinton, Rockingham county. Kiser worked on the Heatwole farm last summer.

NEWS OF THE DAY

The woman who late Thursday was attacked by an unidentified negro at her home in Woodlawn, told the police that if the negro is captured, she wants him brought to her so she can kill him herself. The victim, who appeared to be slightly improved early yesterday, has taken a turn for the worse, and physicians say her condition is critical. "If the negro is captured," she told the police, "I want you to bring him to me, so I can kill him myself—that is, if members of the posse are not men enough to do so."

The French liner Chicago, which was discovered to be afire at sea, has reached Fayal, in the Azores, after a record run. It is stated that there have been no casualties as a result of the fire.

James Stanfield, the oldest Odd Fellow in the United States, is dead in a Baltimore County hospital at the age of 96 years. Mr. Stanfield was a retired farmer and had been active until about a year ago.

One hundred and twenty-eight French aeroplanes have arrived in Roumania for reconnaissance work on the Transylvania and Dobrudja fronts. Four English aeroplanes arrived at the Roumanian capital yesterday from Imbros, an island of the Grecian archipelago. Flying from the Island of Imbros across Central Bulgaria to Bucharest in a straight line the English machines traveled a distance of about 300 miles.

C. S. Douglas was yesterday appointed receiver for the Fussell Ice Cream Company, confectioners and caterers of Washington, upon motion of Americus Whedon, a creditor to the amount of more than $5,000. Whedon alleged that the company has assets of $95,000 with liabilities that may exceed that figure, and is doing a business of $12,000 a month. Bills receivable are alleged to exceed $9,000.

A dispatch from Berlin says fresh blows have been struck against Roumania on both frontiers by the armies of Marshal von Mackensen and Gen. von Falkenhayn. The defeated Russo-Roumanian forces in Dobrudja have been driven fifty miles to the northward following the fall of Cernavoda, according to official dispatches. They are now retiring on a line between Hirzova and Casapekull.

George S. Brunner, 29 years old, of Easton, Pa., who was serving a sentence of eight years in the Northampton County Prison, died Wednesday night as a result of swallowing a quantity of coarse soap, with the intention, it is believed, of becoming ill and thus assisting in securing a pardon. Brunner ate the soap on October 17 and became ill on that day, but his case remained a mystery until another prisoner told of him eating the soap.

A new advance from the west and south has brought the French troops within a few hundred yards of the ruins of Fort Vaux. Earlier official reports to the war office had reported the capture of 100 Germans in the dual gain of Gen. Mangin's troops. The Germans throughout the night and day kept up a violent fire against the principal positions recaptured by the French in Tuesday's blow. Only one infantry attack was attempted, however, and that failed. The Germans left their trenches west of Douaumont village, but the French curtains of fire broke up their intended assault.

Much Wilson money made its appearance at the betting centers in New York yesterday and Hughes supporters had a chance to back their favorite at even money. The largest wager yet reported on these terms was one of $25,000 even, the Wilson stakes being put up by a Democratic mining man from Goldfield, Nev.

FAMILY AVOIDS SERIOUS SICKNESS

By Being Constantly Supplied With Thedford's Black-Draught.

McDuff, Va.—"I suffered for several years," says Mrs. J. B. Whittaker, of this place, "with sick headache, and stomach trouble.

Ten years ago a friend told me to try Thedford's Black-Draught, which I did and I found it to be the best family medicine for young and old.

I keep Black-Draught on hand all the time now, and when my children feel a little bad, they ask me for a dose, and it does them more good than any medicine they ever tried.

We never have a long spell of sickness in our family, since we commenced using Black-Draught."

Thedford's Black Draught is purely vegetable, and has been found to regulate weak stomachs, aid digestion, relieve indigestion, colic, wind, nausea, headache, sick stomach, and similar symptoms.

It has been in constant use for more than 70 years, and has benefited more than a million people.
